

Einat Hakim

Director of Administration & Logistics

Einat hakim is the director of Administration & Logistics at The Leon H. Charney Forum on New Diplomacy. She is currently responsible for the effective operation of the Forum, focusing on various aspects such as acquisitions, and providing logistical support whenever needed.

In light of to her extensive experience at the University of Haifa, she is also serving as a liaison officer, connecting the Forum with the University's administrative departments. Einat is also in charge of academic events, such as conferences and workshops.

Born in Afula, located at the heart of the Jezreel Valley, Einat is a graduate of 'Ulpena Tzvia'. In her youth, she was highly active in the 'Bne'i Akiva' movement, and in the council of the city youth. She has also been very socially active, working with disadvantaged communities, and in voluntary work in Afula.

Einat served in the IDF, in Information security Unit – Intelligence corps, Israeli Air Force.

Upon finishing her military service, she focused her attention on obtaining a B.A degree in Political Science, Anthropology and Sociology, later continuing to a M.A degree in International Relations at the University of Haifa.

During her studies, Einat worked in Academon, as an assistant manager, as well as research assistant at the School of Business Administration at the University, participating in active research.

After obtaining her master's degree, she was an integral part of the rebuilding of the National Security Studies Center at the University of Haifa, as well as the unique, flagship International Master's degree program in National Security Studies. This program brings together a unique mix of highly rated students, seasoned veterans of numerous domestic and international security forces, and academics. Led by Dr. Dan Scheuftan, it aims at introducing academic and practical aspects of national security to its students.

In these roles, Einat coordinated all administrative and logistical aspects of both the Center and the program. As such, she organized numerous academic and other events, such as international and domestic workshops and conferences and seminars.

Drawing from her rich experience, Einat was also responsible for recruiting new students to the program, daily assisting them to successfully complete the program.

Einat is also responsible for the establishment and operation of various research groups, bringing together research fellows and students from all over the world.

She also provided invaluable assistance to several other academic initiatives, mainly in the fields of marketing and promotion.

In her personal life Einat is married and has three children.